WATER GROUP ADVICE OF LICENCE (S) ISSUED UNDER THE NATURAL RESOURCES MANAGEMENT ACT 2004

Take Note

The Natural Resources Management Act provides that a water licence is a property right issued to a person, which is not directly linked to the land. A licence may however, authorise water to be taken or used in relation to specific land parcels. If the land parcel(s) specified on a licence are sold, the licence remains in the possession of the licence holder unless separate approval is obtained to transfer or vary the water allocation endorsed on that licence. An application to transfer or vary a licensed water allocation must be made in accordance with the licensing provisions of the Natural Resources Management Act. The provisions relevant to this prescribed resource are attached.
